

15-3/4"

A technical drawing of a decorative spindle. The spindle is a long, thin rod with a central decorative section. The central section features a bulbous, spindle-shaped body with two small, raised rings or collars on either side. The top and bottom ends of the spindle are tapered and slightly rounded. Green dimension lines with arrows indicate the following measurements: a total length of 36 inches, two sections of 15-3/4 inches each (one at the top and one at the bottom), and a diameter of 1/2 inch at the bottom end.
